which you have assigned me, I am not insensible to the fact that it is one which is worthy of the honorable ambition of any citizen. I will not attempt to conceal my high appreciation of the honor which you have bestowed upon me, and I beg leave to tender to you my sincere thanks for this, another expression of your confidence in my humble, ability to do service in behalf of the business interests of Wheeling. At the same time I will not attempt to conceal the fact that the work before us will severely tax your energies and mine. I cannot hope to serve you successfully, except as you are willing to direct and support, with energy and enthusiasm the objects of the organization. The association which you have just formed is intended to supply a long existing deficiency in the business policy of this city and vicinity. The work to be accomplished will be the more difficult, because it has been so long deferred. But nothing is impossible to men of energy and enterprise; and the necessity which is now upon us as a manufacturing and distributing centre will, I trust, be met with the same zeal, wisdom and determination which has in the past enabled us to successfully cope with our competitors elsewhere.

There are indications, to which I need the fact that it is one which has in the past enabled us to successfully cope with our competitors elsewhere.

believe that this Chamber of Commerce, if cordially supported and energetically and wisely conducted, will produce results, which will greatly promote the prosperity of Wheeling, that will enable her, not only to retain, but to secure and extend the trade which she has so bravely earned. We do not know ourselves, out of our own special departments, what we are, or what special departments, what we are, or what we are doing. It is time that we did know; and it is time that we take measures, to more fully make known to the buyers of the country, our resources, and our facili the country, our resources, and our facili-ties for supplying their wants. To this work the Chamber of Commerce is especially adapted; and it will be to the in-terest as it is the duty of every manufac-turer and merchant in Wheeling, to aid it, in accomplishing the important object for which it is formed.

THE ORGANIZATION'S PLAN.

Logan in his remarks outlined briefly what the Chamber of Commerce proposes to accomplish. No time is to be lost in getting down to wark. Skalaties will be gathered relating to Wheeling industries, etc., and sent out together with other im-portant information that should be known not only by the residents of Wheeling but by the country at large, but which has large majority of the people have a vague idea.

It is not stall improbable that the Cham-

NOW READY.

The Ladies Endorse Us.

If there is anything to be had in the shape of an extra good bargain wherever traffic goes on, whether in the sleepy Bazaars of Constantinople or in the active, bustling thoroughares of an American town, the ladies are sure to find it out. And if there is anything that can make a merchant feel that he is on the right road to prosperity it is to have the continued patronage of the Ladies. Our Boys' Clothing Department has illustrated this agreeable state of things, and for the past three or tour weeks ot our Great Suit Sale each day has seen increasing throngs selecting Bargains in Boys' and Children's Suits, so liberally advertised by us, and offered at-such tempting figures.

A Complete Base Ball Outfit with each Boy's Suit.
